

Supervised Study in Salesian College

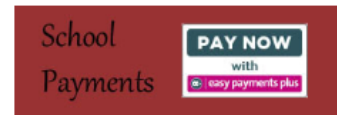

Study sessions are available to students of all year groups in the school. They provide a quiet supervised space where students can work.

Afterschool study is popular with all students as they get a chance to get homework done before they go home for the evening.

Night study is popular with exam year students as the numbers are smaller and students use the time to study for exams rather than do homework.

Saturday Morning study is an additional 3 hour session, open to all students but used mainly by leaving certificate students in preparation for state exams. We would like to see more Junior Cycle and Leaving Certificate students attending this study session.

All study sessions are listed on the school website, click on the school payments tab and follow the instructions to book a place.

We would strongly advise our students to use these study opportunities to prepare for the state examinations in June.
